$1,000 Bond Required of Gurley. The bail of J. F. Gurley, accused of embezzling $450 from the Apex Knitting Mills, while connected with it as general manager and superintendent, has been fixed at $1,000. He was brought back here recently from Tennessee where he had been for a month.

Name of News Corporation Changed. The new charter of the corporation running the Greensboro Daily News, which has been tied up some days on account of getting a name that would not conflict with corporations already registered with the secretary of state, has just been issued. The new name is the Hilderbrand-Crater Publishing Co. The capital is $10,000, paid in by W. A. Hilderbrand, George B. Crater and Chas. H. McKnight; and the authorized capital is $100,000.

M. & M. Club Enjoyed Spread

Last evening from 8:30 to 12 o'clock the Merchants and Manufacturers' club rooms were filled with young men enjoving a St. Patrick's dance. There was music and the voung men gaily turned corners with young men, the figures and dancing being of a mirth provoking nature. The members of the Glee Club and orchestra of the State University were the guests of the club after the concert at the Normal College. Divers refreshments were served during the evening and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of the

MET IN SALISBURY

R. L. Schoolfield, Guilford County Demonstrator, Attended Meeting-Is Making Active Campaign For Agricultural Improvement in This County.

R. L. Schoolfield, of Greensboro, R. F. D. 4, was in the city yesterday afternoon returning from Salisbury where he attended a meeting of the farm demonstrators of the western division of North Carolina, which was held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last

There are nineteen demonstrators in the division and every one of the number attended. The meeting was in charge of General Field Agent Long, of the United States Department of Agriculture, and C. R. Hudson, of the same department, who is in charge of farm demonstration work in North Carolina.

Mr. Schoolfield is farm demonstrator for Guilford county and devotes about one-half of the year to the work. On March 1 he began a canvass of the county, which he will complete in about three weeks. The purpose of the United States Department of Agriculture in sending out these farm demonstrators is to give people generally the benefit of the most modern thought and observation in farming. The farm demonstrator reaches a far greater number of people than the bulletin service, and he can be of much assistance to the farmers. One of the things the department its most interested in now is larger yields of corn, and to this end deep plowing and careful selection of seed are urged. Mr. Schoolfield is ready at any time to answer any communications in re-

Glee Club Concert Was Delightful

Last evening at the State Normal and Industrial College the glee club and orchestra from the State University gave a most delightful concert. The concert was given under the auspices of the Senior class and a large number of Greensboro people were out to hear the Chapel Hill boys. The members of the glee club showed that the numbers on the program had been given careful study. The quartets were especially enjoyable.

The selections of the orchestra were especially fine, and deserved the praise that had been accorded the instrumentalists all along the line, and it was generally spoken among the audience that the company was far above the average.

Mr. Sneath, the director of the singers, has a fine stage appearance, and sings well. The fact is he handled the solos entirely, and though his voice is not strong, nor of special quality, it is of pleasing tone, and he carries out to the full the requirements of a college man, being particularly devoid of stage mannerisms.

Wife Makes a Horrible Mistake

Chicago, March 18.-John Schenk superintendent of the rark Ridge branch of the Northwestern Gas, Light and Fuel Co., was found shot to death today in his home in Park Ridge, a suburb. The police announced several hours later, after Mrs. Schenck had recovered from hysterics, that she had shot her husband, mistaking him for a burglar.

When the police arrived at the house Mrs. Schenk was hysterical. At first she said she did not know who fired the shots which entered her husband's body. After becoming calmer she is reported by the police to have said: "I had retired after being up late at an entertainment and was awakened by the sound of someone in the house. I was too frightened to call out, but went to see what it was, carrying a revolver. I saw a man move and I don't know how the gun became discharged. Then when I called Mr. Schenk and he did not answer a suspicion came over my mind and I found I had killed him. It was a horrible mistake, as we have always been very happy."

afternoon at a few minutes past one o'clock and with a 32 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver sent a bullet crashing into her right breast. The loud report brought scores of guests of the hotel into the parlor where the young woman was lying in a heap on the floor and the blood was slowly issuing from the

Drs. Charles Roberson, J. A. Turner and M. F. Fox were soon working over the would-be-suicide, who implored the physicians to kill her. As the physicians worked she kept saying over and over that she had committed the rash act because of the fact that her husband had she had rather be dead than alive with-

Mrs. Royster was carried to St. Leo's Hospital and at a late hour last night was reported as resting well. The physicians state that she stands a good chance to recover unless complications set in. The bullet entered the right breast and penetrated the right lung. No effort was made to locate the ball.

The would-be-victim before her marriage was Miss Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mitchell, of Burlington, and a sister of Mrs. E. D. Fowler, of this city. She is a young woman of attractive personality and is a person of more than average intelligence. Her one failing seems to be her uncontrollable love for the man who had sworn to love, protect and honor her.

Immediately after her arrival in the city yesterday she met Sam Bradshaw, Jr., and knowing that he was a friend of her husband Mrs. Royster gave him a sealed envelope, telling him to keep the packet for her until he heard further from her. A few minutes later young Bradshaw heard the report of the Young Royster is a son of G. H. Royster, one of the most highly respected citizens of the city. For nearly two years he had been paying attention to Miss Mitchell, going down frequently to visit her. About five weeks ago the couple went to Durham and were married, returning to the bride's home where they remained several days. According to one report received from a reliable source about two weeks ago the groom came to Greensboro to secure a position. Several days later he returned to Burlington and informed Mrs. deserted her and her love was such that Royster that he had come to himself near Atlanta, evidently being in a doped condition. He declared his intention to settle down and make a model husband. About 10 days ago he decided to make another trip to Greensboro and secure a position and this was the last heard of him by his wife.

> On Saturday, March 11, Mrs. Royster came to Greensboro in quest of her husband. She failed to learn of his whereabouts, but was of the opinion that he was hiding in the city. She went before Justice of the Peace G. T. Glascock and secured a warrant, charging her husband with abandonment and non-support. This was given her after the Justice had stated to her that the best thing she could do was to go home and live with her parents; that her husband was not worthy of her attention, in view of the fact that he had treated her so shamefully. She insisted that she wanted a warrant and this was given her. What was done with the warrant is not known, but it is not believed that it was handed to an officer to be served. It was learned last night that his parents had not seen young Royster, pistol and was somewhat startled to nor heard from him since his marriage, find that Mrs. Royster was shot. Moss Habeas Corpus Hearing

W. V. Moss, who was arrested last Saturday night on the charge of impersonating a revenue officer, will be taken o Asheville this afternoon where to morrow morning before Judge J. C Pritchard a hearing will be had with a view of securing a writ of habeas corpus to give Moss his liberty, it being alleged by counsel for the defense that Moss is wrongfully held in violation of the constitution of the United States. Hudson & Swift and David Stern will represent the defendant, while District Attorney Holton will most likely represent the government. Several witnesses will go down to testify at the hearing.

Three Addresses to Young People

This morning at 11 o'clock Harry Wade Hicks will make an address at West Market Street Methodist church. Mr. Hicks, who is field secretary of the Young People's Missionary Movement, arrived in the city last night and is stopping at the Guilford. He is thoroughly familiar with the Young People's Movement and he will be heard with interest and profit by all who attend

This afternoon at 5 o'clock Mr. Hicks will speak at the Church of the Covenant and tonight at 7:30 he will speak at Westminster Presbyterian church. All young people are cordially invited to hear Mr. Hicks and the members of the mission study classes in the various churches are urged to attend one or more of these services.

Work Progressing on H. S. Building

Work on the Central High School building is progressing rapidly and the building will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the fall term. This will be one of the most complete buildings in the state and the ventilating system will be the most modern and complete of any school building in the South. The building is being erected with a view of putting additional rooms in the rear as soon as possible. The workmanship is first class and the material being used in the construction is of the best.

NEUSE RIVER BOTTOM MILLS TO BE SOLD

DEFAULT IN PAYMENT OF INTER-EST ON BONDS CAUSES FINAN-CIAL DIFFICULTIES FOR COTTON MILL NEAR RALEIGH - BONDS AMOUNT TO $75,000.

Raleigh, March 18 .- Proceedings have been instituted in federal court to procure the immediate appointment of a commissioner to sell under foreclosure the Neuse River cotton mills, situated six miles from this city. The mills are to be sold to satisfy a $75,000 bond issue held by the Trust Company of America.

The mill company defaulted in the payment of January interest on these bonds and the bondholders are taking steps to realize on their holdings.

A. A. Thompson is president of the Neuse River mills.

Lewis West Will Die in Electric Chair on May 5

Wilson, March 18 .- Lewis West was sentenced today to be electrocuted May 5 and Stetson gets thirty years at hard labor, both for the murder of Deputy Sheriff George Mumford on February 3. After the sentence six of the remaining 16 members of the alleged gang of which West was the leader were arraigned. The condemned murderer was the chief witness offered by the state, he willingly taking the stand and giving evidence against his former pals, as he said, in hope of making everything right with God. All were convicted before adjournment of offenses for which the maximum penalty is five years.

These negroes were Dave Young, Will Lane, Will Smith, Matthew Mebane, Wade Williams and Tom Lane. The first four, after West had testified against them, admitted having formed a conspiracy here to rob a store at Dunn, N. C., and of later executing it.

In a private statement yesterday afternoon West said he was sorry he committed the crime and that drinking and keeping bad company was the cause of it. He is 23 years old, he says, although he looks much older, and weighs 198 pounds. He says he was very hungry and had no money to buy food, was the reason he went in the negro restaurant at Maxton, where he was arrested while trying to sell a pistol and get

TRANSFORMING WHISKEY INTO WATER.

The city of Durham had a peculiar experience the past week, due to efforts, or lack of effort, to enforce the prohibition law. An old negro purchased two bottles of liquor at a feed store, or some place alleged to be a legitimate place of business. The darky was arrested, and he surrendered to the police the bottles, which contained a fluid that looked like liquor and had the unmistakable odor. The darky acknowledged that he purchased the liquor at the feed store, and identified the man who sold him the bottles. In police court it appeared that a plain case had been made out against the alleged violator of the prohibition law until the bottles said to contain whisky were opened. It was then discovered that they contained water.

The liquor which was changed to water in a night by the Durham police department has caused much speculation and is the chief sensation of the period in that city. The Durham Sun places the responsibility for this metamorphosis upon the police department; and, apparently, that is where it should rest; as the bottles taken from the negro contained whisky at the time of his arrest and they were in the hands of the police from that time until they were produced at the trial and found to contain water.

The Sun states that four hundred quarts of liquor were found in the place of business where the negro bought his bottles. The fact ought to be sufficient to arouse the suspicion, at least, of a cigar store wooden Indian. The proprietor of the "feed" (and drink) store explained the presence of water in the bottles by saying that he was bothered by people asking him for whiskey and that he fixed up that little dodge to meet these requests for something to drink. He said the bottles filled with water were kept on hand for this purpose and when a thirsty soul entered his place and asked for a drink he was promptly handed a bottle of-water.

In this connection, however, it is somewhat remarkable that the proprietor of a strictly straight feed store should take an old negro's money for two bottles of water and keep it, without informing his customer that he was the victim of a practical joke and without manifesting any disposition to return the coin. It is also remarkable that of four hundred and two bottles in stock in the hay depot, only two should contain water.

In fact, the Durham incident is one of the most remarkable developed in the State under the prohibition regime. It bas, likewise, humorous features sufficient to supply material for a mteropolitan Sunday comic supplement.

To Work On Baseball Park.

Work will begin in the course of the next few days on grading the diamond of the baseball park, filling in the outfield and making other preparations for the approaching season. This will be the last summer baseball will be played at Latta park owing to the fact that the lease on the present grounds expires after this season. The baseball association has taken time by the forelock n purchasing property on Mint street within easy walking distance of the square for the building of a park. This will be done after the close of the coming season in time for the spring of 1912, the new arena to have all the modern conveniences and facilities in vogue in the larger cities of the country.-Charlotte Observer.

DRAPING OLD BEDS.

Very Difficult to Treat These Pieces of Furniture Artistically.

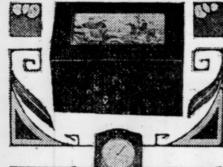

Among the many vanished institutions within our generation is the old flounced bed valance. How rarely one sees such a thing in these days of free and fresh air crazes, and the consequence is a vast development in bedspreads. But a funny accompaniment to this change is the reversion back to the old wooden bedstead, certainly a more picturesque but,a less strictly hygienic structure than its iron framed relation. Now, said a woman recently, one of my friends, who possesses only the ordinary painted iron framed beds, has been pointing out to me how utterly gaunt and skeletonian they look without any underdrapery and yet how the ordinary sized bedspread, frill and all, refused to come down properly at each side to hide the drafty vacancy underneath. If an extra large one is bought it "bundles" most horribly at the foot, where much fron and brass work impedes its grace. So we put our heads together, with the result that we bought several yards of one of the lovely art cottons now so cheap, white, with an eighteenth century design on it of parrots and stiff tropical foliage and flowers, and made a bedspread to fit-that is to say, with two deep side pieces reaching to within an inch of the floor, but shortened in proportion at the foot, so that the material lay neatly and flat behind the metal work scrolls and twirls. We put no frill on this, but a two inch border of casement cloth of deep greeny blue, the principal tint in the parrot design, laid on flat about two inches from the hem and stitched at each side with featherstitch in thick white embroid-

As for the gap now left at the foot end of the bedstead, we made a plain, unfrilled curtain of the greeny blue casement cloth and attached it to the foot of the framework behind the metal design, to remain there as a permanent thing. We then made another curtain for the head end of the bed to match this, but worked in the white cotton in a solid design, forming a strip or cross panel along the whole width of the curtain about six inches from the top. This made a very complete looking thing of the gaunt bed; yet, the bedspread being lifted off for night use, the free passage of air under the bed was still procurable. The top curtain was hung over the ironwork on a small

Even with the wooden bedsteads the ornamental cover should be made considerably wider than it is long or that "bundling" at the foot must occur. Yet usually one can buy these only of exactly opposite dimensions.

High Sleeping Place For Baby. There is a grandmother who recently paid her married daughter a visit. Asked on her return how she found things in New York, she said among other observations:

"There is one thing that worries me. It's all the fashion to have babies sleep out of doors. That may be all right, but some way I can't get used to putting the child out on an iron balcony that hangs off the front of an apartment house anywhere from three to thirteen stories from the ground. I think there's a dreadful risk in putting a child to sleep on a balcony seven stories from the ground. Our baby's a very smart child, just as his father and his grandfather were before him, and some day he's going to crawl out of his basket and climb over the edge of the balcony after the birds. You'll see!"

To Have Hot Water. Place the socket of a wall bracket lamp just high enough above a table so that the top of a hand lamp chimney will be five or six inches below it. Make an arm of round wire or small piping long enough to extend out over the lamp and to this hang a picture book, on which hang a small teakettle or pail. In this enough water for the needs of the night can be kept hot without boiling and will be ready at an instant's notice. As a lamp is a necessity in a house where there is a youngster, the cost of this device will be nothing, for the blaze of a small burner will provide sufficient heat. The lamp chimney should not be nearer than two inches to the bottom of ed the Discovery. "When I was a boy," said the story teller, "I lived in the Pennsylvania oil country and my grandfather owned a big farm down there. They had never found oil within five or six miles of grandfather's place, but they were gradually edging along in his direction, and we all expected that sooner or later somebody would uncover a gusher there. That would mean a fortune for grandfather, and as I was his only heir I naturally took considerable interest in the matter. Well, one day a rich oil man came along and made an offer for grandfather's farm. They had struck a good well near by, and everybody had come to the conclusion that grandiather's farm was in the middle of the oil belt. Our friends advised against the acceptance of the first offer, which would have been twenty times as much as the farm would have been worth if no oil had been there, but it was certain that if oil were discovered on the farm we could get $50,000 and perhaps $100,000 more than the price mentioned by the first bidder.

"Seeing that grandfather wouldn't sell, the man leased a couple of acres from him and started to put down a test well. It was expected that they would have to drill about a thousand feet to reach the sand in which the oil was located, and when they got down that far not a sign of oil had been found, so they decided to torpedo the thing.

"The scheme was to put a lot of nitroglycerin into the well and blow it up. That often made gushers of what at first seemed to be dry holes. They brought a large quantity of the explosive stuff to the farm and stored it in a little shed, expecting to blow up the well the next day. Here's where the hard luck comes in.

"It happened that I had a goat, and this goat got into the shed where the explosive was stored. Boylike, I rushed in to get the goat out, and grandfather and a crowd of the well drillers saw me. They were horror stricken. For a moment nobody could move or even speak. Then grandfather offered his farm to any one who would rescue me. One of the drillers accepted the offer and entered the shed, where he succeeded in getting the goat by the horns just before he had butted into the can of nitroglycerin.

"He flung the goat out through the open door of the shed, and then, catching me in his arms, carried me out in safety to grandfather. The old gentleman insisted on deeding the place over to him then and there. The next day they attempted to torpedo the well and then it was discovered that the can which was supposed to be full of nitroglycerin contained nothing but lard, and the goat died of the shock it had sustained when it was thrown from the shed. Eventually the well turned out to be a gusher."-Chicago Record-Herald.

Quite Definite.

Some people find it difficult to determine just what constitutes a man's income for the purpose of taxation, but a justice of the peace in a New Jersey village was intent upon there being no mistake in his case. He made his return to the tax assessor in the words: "For the last two years my income has been a little under $600 a year, but in the future it will be more precarious, as the man from whom I borrowed that money (my father-in-law) is now dead."-Brooklyn Life.

SENATOR SIMMONS ON REAL TARIFF REVISION

and the eight or nine Democratic senators who have stood steadfastly against

Relative to reported assurances that President Taft has that the reciprocity bill will be passed during the extra session Senator Simmons, believes it will not pass unless it is materially amended and some real tariff reform legislation tacked on to it. The only effect it would have, he says, enacted in its present shape, would be to give the newspapers and magazines perhaps, cheaper paper, give the flour and meatpacking trust cheaper raw material and give the harvester, automobile and coal trusts better profits in the Canadian markets. He insists that it would not reduce the cost of living and that so far as relieving the people of the present tariff conditions, even if everything claimed for it were true it would be nothing but a crumb. He insists that if passed it should be amended to put flour and meat on the free list as well as wheat and live stock, the flour and meat being the things that the peoole eat. Also that it ought to be amendwell as farm and forest products upon

Speaking of the insistance by President Taft that the reciprocity agreement must not be amended even to the extent of reducing duties on Canadian imports to this country and the explanation by Taft that he opposes putting wheat and meat on the free list because Canada, in his opinion, would not agree to putting American wheat and meat imported into Canada on the free list he insists that this is no excuse at all and that surely Canada could not object to her meat and flour being admitted into this country free and that if the United States should take the duty off of all Canadian products coming into this country Canada could but

Senator Simmons holds that this position of Taft against free flour and meat shows the real character of his tariff agreement in that the administration is clearly more solicitous about free raw materials for manufacturers and the trusts than for cheaper cost of living for the people. He takes the view that if the Congress should pass the Taft reciprocity agreement Taft would then veto any other tariff legislation that Congress might undertake. For this reason he insists that the Democrats should contend for amendments to the reciprocity bill that will give it Demoeratic coloring and tack on to it such tariff legislation as it is practical to pass during the extra session. He says the people have asked the Democratic party for bread and have asked that it be given to them at the very first opportunity. And that this reciprocity measure is but a crumb and that if the Democratic party shall fall into Mr. Taft's trap and the only result of the extra session be the adoption of this measure, in the judgment of Senator Simmons there will be but little left of the Democratic party except the smell of sulphur and brimstone. The whole thing, says he is a shrewd scheme on Taft's part and it is astonishing that the Democrats do not see it.

ARISTOCRATIC SMITHS.

They Lead the Four Hundred In New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

The new Locater of the Social Register, just issued, contains an interesting study of names as they are given in the various Four Hundreds of the cities which have been listed. The Locater, which covers twenty-nine cities, contains the names of 95,648 persons. Of these 50,752 are grouped as Mr. and Mrs. and 44,896 appear as

In New York's Four Hundred the Smiths lead, there being 166 in the aristocratic inclosure. The Browns come next with 143, the Clarks third with ninety-one. Although less numerous, the Livings as, with fiftyeight, are still typically of the metropolis, there being only four Livingstons outside New York. Three are in St. Paul, and one is in Cincinnati. In Washington the name of Davis comes first, with twenty-three, and the Harond, with twenty-two. There are twenty-one Johnsons. In Philadelphia there, are 137 Smiths, ninety-two Morrises and eighty-nine Biddles.

In Chicago the Smiths are also in the lead. There they number fifty-five as against the thirty-five Adamses, the five Masons. Boston, however, mightily reduces the general average of the Smiths, the Locater enumerating only five of that name who abide in the Back Bay region of the Hub. In the Boston list the Coolidges lead with library by the Audubon Society is a thirty-eight, followed by the Peabodys and Putnams, thirty-five each. Proved to put agricultural implements of all idence has thirty-one Aldriches and kinds and machinery of all kinds as twenty-two Arnolds. St. Louis has such old family names as the Garesches and Cabannes. Cincinnati leads with its Andersons, St. Paul with Hills and Minneapolis with Washburns. In San Francisco there are twenty-eight Adamses, and Baltimore abounds in Williamses and Jenkinses.

EXPERIMENT STATIONS.

Work of These Centers of Agricultural Investigation.

In the opinion of many qualified observers the agricultural experiment stations are proving to be one of the greatest agencies of helpfulness in the United States. Under a law passed nineteen years ago each of the states and territories receives several thousand dollars a year from the general government for this purpose. The states add about half as much more. These centers of practical investigation concerning the plant and animal life of the farm in all its bearings are putting numberless theories and customs to a rigid test. It was the practice twenty years ago to cook food for domestic animals, but exhaustive investigations in feeding seemed to show that this is not profitable, and a great change of custom has resulted.

The Minnesota station has accomplished much in improving wheat, the Hlinois station in improving the corn yield, the Wisconsin station in the diary and the California station in the reclamation of alkali lands.

The experiment stations are gradually correcting certain of their original mistakes. There was a tendency at first to a duplication of work. Each attempted perhaps to do too many things. Now there is better co-ordination through the department of agriculture at Washington. The stations also are specializing and devoting themselves more particularly to local interests. Each agency has its sphere of influence. It is well to have some men in the community set apart to make the experimental studies for which the individual farmer could not spare the time. Millions of dollars in the aggregate may be lost by a single popular error if sufficiently widespread. To find out what is what is really the task stations are trying to perform .-New York Press.

St. Patrick's Day Party.

One of the most delightful and mirth provoking entertainments of the season was a St. Patrick's tacky party given by the "Big 5 Club" Friday evening at the home of Miss Lillian Watson, Guilford avenue. About thirty young people were present to enjoy the hospitality of the hostesses.

The house was attractively decorated in green in honor of St. Patrick, the color scheme being carried out in the refreshments.

The guests were met at the door by the club members, Misses Lillian Watson, Lucile and Helen Pickard, Lillian Hedgepeth and Eva Aiken, and handed an artificial green flower.

After all had assembled the judges decided that Miss Shirley Wilson wore the tackiest costume and she was presented with the prize, an eight ounce stick of red candy, tied with green cheesecloth. Then followed the games, the chief game being the art of tacking a piece of cardboard over a spot on the wall by a person blindfolded. Roy Spearman succeeded in getting the cardboard nearest to the spot and he was given a raw Irish potato tied in green

Then came the music. There were piano solos by Miss Nellie Thomas and vocal selections by the Big 3. Afterwards refreshments were served, there being two courses. The first course consisted of red stick candy, ginger snaps and red lemonade, the second being of raw peanuts. OFFICERS LOOKING FOR ALLEGED MURDERER.

Raleigh, March 18.—Officers have gone McCullers, this county, for Wiley Auston who killed Garfield Williams, some weeks ago while Williams was trying to induce Austin to behave himself at a church festival that was being given at the home of Williams for the benefit of a negro church in the locality. The news came last night to the sheriff's office here that Austin was believed to be hiding around in the McCullers neighborhood. The negroes were very much wrought up over the killing which was in the Holly Springs section.

An Event of First Importance to Every Man and Woman in Dixie

YOU have been told that the South is waking up. Here is concrete evidence. Lynchburg, Va., from an out of the way distributing point for northern-made shoes 35 years ago is today the fifth city in the importance of her shoe products in the United States. It is the fastest growing shoe city in the world.

Thirty-five years ago the bulk of the shoes worn in the South came from New England. Richmond, Atlanta, New Orleans and Memphis were doing all the distributing. Today Lynchburg is making and selling more shoes than all the rest of the South combined.

This is a big commercial fact. It means big things for the South.

For generations the South has been sending millions of dollars North every year to pay for her shoes. With the growth of Lynchburg as a manufacturing city this is gradually changing. Today you can buy in any city in the South a southern-made shoe. This money pays southern labor. It pays the salaries of southern salesmen. It pays the southern storekeepers. It is building schools, paying off mortgages and bringing prosperity to factories and cities. Your money is staying at home to work for you and outside dollars are flowing South.

New Capital—New Blood—New Ginger

WE were the first shoe merchants in what is now the greatest shoe city in the South. We have grown up with the South. We have grown up with the city. The spirit of the times has laid its hand on the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co. and its factories. New capital has been added to our resources. A new and more efficient organization has been effected. We have always made a shoe that defied competition. We are now going to put it into every town and city in the South. We count our friends by the thousands. We are going to count them by the tens of thousands.

New capital means a better shoe than we have yet produced. It means more shoes. We invite every southern shoe merchant to a share in the good times that are coming.

To every man and woman in the South we promise the best in shoe values that expert workers and the best leathers combined can produce.

Our old friends know what Witt Shoe quality has always been. To all others we say, "Ask to see the Witt Shoe styles"-the finest examples of fine shoe making that 'ever came out of Our salesmen are now on the road with the Fall, 1911, samples. Dealers, get a look in.

THE BUILDING COMMITTE'S AD-

It is with considerable pleasure that the Building Committee of the Y. M. C. A. present to the readers of the Telegram these views of the front elevation and floor plans of the new building.

Perhaps it has seemed to those not in touch with the progress of the plans, that much time has been consumed in getting the work started. However, all will agree that it is better to go slow and be sure we are getting a building suited to our needs. These plans representing the latest and best in association buildings, and they are complete and convenient in every detail. In the opinion of experts, this building combines more practical points of merit and represents a more advantageous outlay of money than any plant built for a like amount. It represents a new style of architecture, typical of the American character; strong and massive in its general outline, void of useless ornamentation, simple, yet dignified.

Second Floor Plan

Located on the second floor will be the Educational Department, Ladies' Parlor, Banquet Hall, and Kitchen.

The Running Track, Spectators' Gallery, and upper part of the Gymnasium occupy the rear of this floor.

The front is divided into attractive living rooms, with a private corridor, each room being supplied with a large closet.

Third Floor Plan

This entire floor will be devoted to dormitories, with ample provision made for toilet and shower bath facilities.

These will be rented to members of the Association and will supply part of the income necessary for carrying on the work. The roof of the Gymnasium is arranged to be used as a roof garden, when

Communications

Editor Telegram:

In reply to a recent communication relative to the time to be devoted by the new commissioners of Greensboro, to the duties of their offices, and in order to make clear my intentions concerning same, I wish to quote the following provision from the new city charter, to night to spend Sunday with Mrs. Gant, wit:

"Each member of the Board of Commissioners shall devote his time and attention to the performance of his public duties, to the exclusion of all other occupations, professions or callings."

It seems that the above about covers Rev. J. W. Long, who has been in the ground, including all kinds of busi-Yadkin county the past week visiting ness men, also preachers, lawyers, docrelatives, returned home yesterday and tors, manufacturers and capitalists.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

You wouldn't ask your neighbor to build a house for you, if he was not equipped and had had no experience? Naturally you would go to a builder or contractor.

Then why ask a neighbor or friend to serve as executor or trustee of your estate? He is busy. He is inexperienced.

The Greensboro Loan & Trust Co.

makes it a specialty to act as trustee or executor, guardian or administrator. It charges the same as the inexperienced individual would charge -the law fixes the price.
